GREEN BAY IS TO QUIT HERE TRACK STAYS

Interstate Commerce Commission Permits Abandonment of Line from Marshland to La Crosse

LEAVES QUESTION OF TAKING UP CERTAIN TRACKS TO CITY

Burlington Road to Switch Cars Over Track in Eastern Part of City

ABANDONMENT of the branch line of the Green Bay and Western railroad company from Marshland to La Crosse is ordered in a final decision rendered by the Interstate Commerce commission. Received here today.

Under the decision of the commission the traffic handled by the Green Bay road in and out of La Crosse will be taken care of by the Burlington railroad, which makes connections with the main line of the Green Bay at Marshland.

On the question whether the switching of coal to the water plant and normal school shall be handled by Burlington engines from the south end of the city over the track which passes through the residence district or from Grand Crossing southward across the marsh, the commission falls to rule.

Under this question the commission says: "The city raises the question as to whether the applicant should be allowed to leave certain of its tracks in place within the city limits. This is a matter, however, which the city and others interested would seem to be competent to handle."

Bridges Called Unsafe

According to testimony taken at the last hearing, held here, Burlington engineers regard the bridges on the Green Bay track over the swamp as unsafe for Burlington engines. The Burlington road proposes to switch cars to the water plant, Normal school and fair grounds from the Green Bay depot north through the residence district.

General Manager Seymour of the Green Bay road testified at this hearing that his company did not propose to give up its franchise or right of way through the city, "because it is a valuable right." This would indicate that the company does not propose to tear up its track.

Following is the decision of the Interstate Commerce commission:

First Denial Petition

"On July 27, 1921, we issued a report in this proceeding, 70 I.C.C. 251 where we held that public convenience and necessity did not permit the abandonment of the branch line in question, for two reasons, first, because the city of La Crosse and several industries receive switching service from the line, and secondly, because the abandonment would necessitate a two-line haul, at higher rates, in place of the single-line movement via the branch line to points on the applicant's main line."

WEATHER RECORD

For La Crosse and vicinity.—Fair tonight and probably Wednesday. Not much change in temperature.

For Wisconsin.—Fair tonight and probably Wednesday. Warmer Wednesday in northern portion.

WOMAN OF 87 IS NAMED TO U. S. SENATE FROM GEORGIA FIRST WOMAN SO HONORED

ATLANTA, Ga.—By the Associated Press.—Mrs. W. H. Felton of Cartersville, Ga., 87 years old, was appointed by Governor T. W. Hardwick Tuesday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson until the people elect a successor in November. Mrs. Felton will be the first woman to become a senator.

At the same time Governor Hardwick announced his candidacy to succeed Senator Watson, who died last week in Washington. The primary will be held October 17th.

Whether Mrs. Felton will actually have an opportunity to qualify and serve as a member of the senate is doubtful for her successor will have been elected when the senate meets in December.

Mrs. Felton is the widow of Dr. W. H. Felton of Cartersville, who served as a member of congress for several terms. She has long been active in Georgia politics. Many years before the women were granted the right of suffrage Mrs. Felton managed her husband's campaigns and stamped the district in his behalf. She was a friend of the late Senator Watson and supported Governor Hardwick in his recent campaign for re-nomination. On several occasions she addressed the state legislature and has served as a member of the board of visitors of the University of Georgia.

Mrs. Felton announced her acceptance of the appointment.

Offered Post to Mrs. Watson. Governor Hardwick in a statement said he had offered the appointment to Mrs. Watson, the widow of the late senator, but "to my deep and real regret Mrs. Watson has declined the information to me that ill-health and an aversion to public station in her own name renders it impossible for her to accept."

The statement then continued: "In all the circumstances, I have, therefore, concluded to bestow the honor of this appointment upon another noble Georgia woman."

"She is splendidly fitted to adorn the highest public station in the land for she yields the gifted pen of a cogent and forceful writer and has all the qualities of heart and head that equip one for broad and constructive statesmanship. She is known throughout Georgia as Georgia's foremost woman citizen."

Mrs. Felton Accepts
Mrs. Felton at her home in Cartersville, Ga., dictated a message to Governor Hardwick accepting the appointment. She declared it was "with mingled feelings of personal gratitude and profound admiration for your courage in this placing, so far as your office allows, a woman in the ranks of the most exalted body in the known world" that she accepted the place. She will serve until the general election in November, when a successor to fill the unexpired term will be chosen.

Mrs. Felton was born in De Kalb county, Georgia, June 10, 1835. She was married in 1853 to Dr. H. W. Felton, who died in 1909. Five children were born to them but only one, Dr. H. W. Felton, survived.

Mrs. Felton was one of two Georgia women on the executive committee at the Columbian exposition in 1893.

The new senator has been a regular contributor to various publications for many years. She is active in looking after her business interests, which include large farm holdings in Bartow county.

Won't Have Actual Service
WASHINGTON.—Although Mrs. W. H. Felton, appointed to succeed the late Senator Watson of Georgia, probably will not have the opportunity of actual service in the senate because of the present recess of congress, she will have the pay and perquisites as well as the title of a senator until a successor is chosen.

Mrs. Felton is not expected to come to Washington as she may take the oath of office in Georgia and receive her commission from the governor there.

RUSHFORD SCHOOL HOUSE BROKEN INTO ON MONDAY NIGHT

Large Set of Community Plate Silverware is Missing Tuesday

Burglars entered a school house at Rushford, Minn., some time during the night Monday and escaped with a large set of community plate silverware, according to long distance telephone message from the marshal to central police station Tuesday.

The silverware stolen included the following: 12 bullion spoons, 6 tea spoons, 6 dessert spoons, 3 table spoons, 12 knives, 12 forks, 12 salad forks and one butter knife.

No clues have been found here.

MORGAN WILL PASS UPON LEGALITY OF CO-OP MILK BODY

State Department of Markets Preparing Briefs to Sustain Claim of Law Violation

STATE CONTENTS SERVICE CHARGE IS DISCRIMINATORY

Company Doing Business Illegally Claims Market Bureau

MADISON, Wis.—The state department of markets Tuesday commenced preparation of arguments to sustain its complaint against the Milk Producers' Co-operative association, an Illinois concern doing business with 4,500 Wisconsin farmers, on the ground that the service charge of the association is discriminatory and a violation of the unfair trade practice regulations of the marketing law.

Briefs to establish its contention will be completed by the department before November 1, according to agreement reached at the close of the hearing on the case here Monday.

Reply briefs are to be submitted by attorneys for the co-operative association, following which the marketing department will proceed to draw up an order either directing that the service charge practice be stopped or sustaining its legality.

Confer With Morgan
Conference was held late Monday between Attorney General Morgan, former Governor Dineen of Illinois and Aaron Sapiro, attorneys for the co-operative concern, and A. C. Reis, assistant attorney general, prosecuting the action for the marketing department. The whole case was explained to Mr. Morgan so that he may later pass on a question involving the right of the association to do business in Wisconsin under the state co-operative law.

While the Milk Producers' association will go on with its activities in the state, two issues remained unsettled, one whether the special service charge in addition to the price paid for milk is illegal, and the other whether the operation of the concern in Wisconsin as a co-operative association is in violation of the state co-operative law.

Illegal Says Reis
As soon as the department of markets determined whether the service charge of the association is legal or not, Attorney General Morgan will be requested to determine if the concern can legally do business in the state.

Mr. Reis Monday told members of the organization that it was illegally conducting business with all of its contracts void and its representatives subject to prosecution.

Warns Against Delay
Unless the state department of markets litigates its case against the milk producers' co-operative association without delay, Attorney General William J. Morgan said that his department might take action to require changes in the methods of business of the concern.

"I informed attorneys for the association meeting with me yesterday, that I could not justify refusing to take action as attorney general unless the matter now before the marketing commission was litigated without delay, and that I could not countenance withholding the enforcement of state laws until the legislature might meet to change the laws that are alleged to be violated," Mr. Morgan said.

The attorney general in a formal statement, said that he had refused to confer with attorneys for the co-operative association on the question whether agreement could be reached to permit them to do business in the state pending change in the state co-operative law.

Determine Legality First
"I took the position," Mr. Morgan said, "that inasmuch as a different department of the state government had alleged the very methods of doing business of this foreign corporation were illegal, that matter should be first determined."

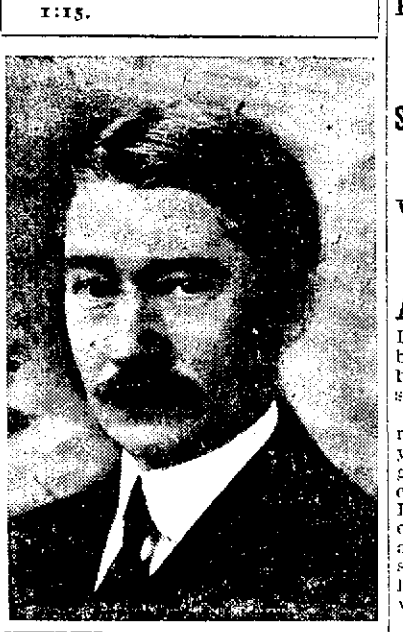

"Where there is a conflict between business methods and the laws of the state, it was my view that the situation should be rectified by changing the business methods rather than by withholding enforcement of the laws until the law can be changed."

"I assured the attorneys, however, that once it is made apparent to me that they were complying with the Wisconsin statutes with respect to their methods of doing business, I would be glad to co-operate with them in suggesting means of so changing their form of organization as to comply with our general incorporation statutes."

TWO MORE WOLVES SLAIN BY SACS AT NIGGER NATHAN

Galesville Hunters Kill Old One and Cub Monday, Making Four Bagged in a Week

WOLF SEEN IN ROAD NORTH OF MIDWAY IN EARLY MORN

THE Sacia brothers, "doubtly" hunters of Galesville, were at it again Monday. The net catch was two more wolves and a couple of shots at another.

Cleve and Percy Sacia, who got two wolves last week in the vicinity of Nigger Nathan hill, North Salem road, were changing along in the auto just after dawn. As they reached the junction of the New Amsterdam road with the Midway-Holmen trunk highway, they spotted a lean and hungry looking wolf sitting in the road.

The wolf whirled at sight of the auto and made tracks for the Black river bottoms. The Sacias started a dog on the trail took a couple of shots at the fleeing varmint and continued on their way to Nigger Nathan.

After several hours hunting the dogs brought an old wolf to within a few rods of where one of the Sacias was posted. The wolf, cornered, put up a fierce battle, slashing at the dogs with his long, razor-like teeth.

When Sacia saw the wolf he was sitting on his hind quarters, nose pointed straight in the air, and howling most dismally. Two well placed shots sent Mr. Wolf to the happy stalking grounds where there ain't no more Sacias with rifles to annoy him.

This old wolf was a thin, hungry one and tipped the beam at 37 pounds, the same weight as the old one shot last week. A short time after the old boy passed on, a cub fell victim of the hunters.

Farmers in the vicinity of "Nigger Nathan" believe there are possibly three or four more young wolves left in the pack.

PRESIDENT'S SON WORKING IN STEEL MILL AS PUDDLER

CHICAGO, Ill.—Joseph Block, 22, son of L. E. Block, president of the Inland Steel company, as a member of a puddlers' gang is learning how to make steel "from the ground up."

Young Block, a graduate of Cornell university, has taken lodgings with other steel workers and with a dinner said on his arm leaves early each day for the company's mill at Chicago Heights.

"Of course the work is hard," said Young Block, referring to the wrestling with the huge billets and molten metal that comes from the flaming furnaces and is handled by burly puddlers stripped to the waist. "But to learn the business properly you have to begin at the bottom. You cannot expect to have it handed to you on a platter."

CHICAGO MAN IS NAMED TO POSITION OF CITY ENGINEER

E. C. Blake Appointed by Mayor or to Succeed the Late George P. Bradish

SALARY OF NEW ENGINEER PLACED AT $3,000 PER YEAR

Was Formerly City Engineer at Dubuque, Iowa

APPOINTMENT of E. C. Blake of Chicago to succeed the late George P. Bradish as city engineer was made by Mayor A. A. Bentley and approved by the common council at its special session held Monday evening.

Mr. Blake comes to the city highly recommended and with a number of years of practical experience since his graduation from the engineering course at the University of Wisconsin. He is 47 years of age, formerly city engineer at Dubuque, Iowa, with also an experience of a year and a half on street work at Madison. Mr. Blake has previously been doing some special work in the city of Chicago.

Salary $3,000 a Year

On motion of Alderman Mahoney, the appointment of Mr. Blake as city engineer was unanimously approved by the council. The mayor's recommendation of $3,000 per year as salary was adopted.

According to the new ordinance which provides for the election by the council of a board of public works at the regular meeting in June, Mr. Blake will serve until that time on the board of public works. He may again be elected to the board if the council deems it advisable at the June meeting.

A resolution granting permission to the Lions club to erect signs on a scenic route in the city was referred back to the committee with the request that the Lions club present to the council definite information concerning the contemplated route.

May Extend Rose Street
Alderman Mahoney introduced a resolution to extend Rose street diagonally from its south end to a point 450 feet south on the easeway from the intersection of the easeway and Monitor street. It is planned to beautify the south end of North La Crosse with the construction of this diagonal street. The resolution was referred to committee.

The lumber remaining after the fire at north branch school was sold to the highest bidder, Enoch Dahl, his bid being $250.

George Carr and Frank J. Ikert were informally granted permission to construct a dance pavilion in the vicinity of California Point.

UNCLE JOE CANNON MAKING TRIP HOME TO DANVILLE BY CAR

Travels the Same Road His Parents Took 83 Years Ago When They Moved to West

WASHINGTON, D. C.—With an old slouch hat cocked on the side of his head, Uncle Joe Cannon started off by automobile Tuesday for Danville, Ill., traveling over the old National Pike his parents took 83 years ago in emigrating westward.

The veteran legislator was full of pep as he stepped into his car at the capitol and told Lester Morris, for ten years his chauffeur and his sole companion on the trip, to "give her the gas."

He waved the old hat, reached for a cigar and smiled.

Just before leaving, Mr. Cannon received a telegram from H. H. Franklin, the automobile manufacturer at Syracuse, N. Y., offering to send down his best car and his crack driver, but he declined.

"This old car is good enough for me, and I like to ride with Lester," he said. "I ride most of the way on the front seat with Lester so the wind shield and this sweater vest will protect me," he said. "I don't like the soft seats. When I ride in the back of the car I usually occupy the folding chair. I like the bumps at 87 years, for they remind me of life."

KEMAL FORCES STILL WITHIN NEUTRAL ZONE

Retire from Advanced Positions Upon Convening of the Peace Conference at Mudania

TERMS OF TURK NATIONALISTS LAID BEFORE ALLIED CONFEREES

Proposals Declared "Discussable But Not Acceptable"; U. S. Warship at Gibraltar

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—The Turkish cavalry has retired from its advanced positions in the Chanak area, decreasing the danger of conflict there.

This withdrawal, which is described in messages from the Dardanelles as "slight," was supposed here to be in consequence of word received by the Turks that the Mudania conference was in session. The Turks, however, were said to be still well within the neutral zone.

Turks Offer Terms
LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—The Turkish nationalists Tuesday will lay before the representatives of the allies at Mudania the terms on which they are willing to agree to a suspension of military movements.

Constantinople dispatches say the Kemalists proposals, an outline of which has reached the allied headquarters there, were deemed discussable but not acceptable, by a council Monday of the allied high commissioners, ambassadors, generals and admirals.

Franklin Bouillon, the French envoy, expressed belief that an agreement will be reached.

The Turkish proposals are said to include formal guarantees concerning the evacuation of Thrace by the Greek army, occupation of the territory by allied troops and transfer of the civil administration to Kemalists functionaries.

Military Matters Up
CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—Only military matters will be taken up at the conference of allied and Turkish nationalist commanders at Mudania today, the political aspects of the situation being disposed of at a later meeting, according to M. Franklin-Bouillon, whose recent trip to Smyrna where he conversed with Mustafa Kemal Pasha was responsible for the summing up of the conference.

The two most important questions to be discussed, he said, were the demarcation of a new neutral zone on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles and at Ismid, and the evacuation of Thrace. He was confident that an agreement would be reached.

Want Bona Fide Agents
Steps had been taken to have only responsible Turkish representatives at this and the subsequent conferences in order to prevent a recurrence of the repudiation of the agreement made last year with Bekir Sami Bey, then nationalist foreign minister.

Reports from the Chanak area Monday showed that on the verge of the armistice conference the close juxtaposition of the Turkish and British troops continued. The Turkish officers were making friendly overtures to the British, offering them cups of coffee and attempting similar small courtesies. Horses of both sides were drinking from the same troughs.

The cruiser Pittsburgh sailed from Philadelphia yesterday. Her ultimate destination is the near east. She will touch at the Canary Islands before making Gibraltar to relieve the Utah, which will return to American waters, the Pittsburgh with Vice Admiral Lenz on board, proceeding on through the Mediterranean.

SMYRNA.—By The Associated Press.—Embarkation of the Greek and Armenian refugees from Smyrna has been stopped by the Turks, the time limit set by Mustafa Kemal Pasha having expired. Approximately 300,000 persons have been evacuated and those remaining will be deported to the interior, whether men, women or children.

The Turkish military today began a house to house search for those liable to deportation.

ISADORA DUNCAN
AND POET HUSBAND
ADMITTED TO U. S.

Dancer in Bad Humor Over
Twenty-four Hours Detention
by Immigration Officials

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Isadora Duncan and her exuberant young poet-husband, Serge Yesenin, were permitted to land in the United States Monday after the department of justice had detained them twenty-four hours to learn whether the dancer who arrived from Moscow Sunday was a courier for the Russian soviet government.

Isadora was in a bad humor and she didn't reveal much happiness over being allowed to enter the country.

Asked How She Danced

"They held me because I came from Moscow," she said. "What did they ask me? O, they wanted to know if I was a classical dancer. I told them I didn't know, because my dancing is personal. They wanted to know what I looked like when I danced. How did I know? I never saw myself dance."

It was officially stated at Ellis Island that broadly speaking, the department of justice detained the dancer because of her long residence in Russia and gossip that connected her with the soviet government, and because it was suspected that she might be a courier for the soviet.

Stunning but Petulant

After a long wait Isadora and her smiling young husband, ten years her junior, walked out of the dignity chambers. Isadora was petulant and hungry. Her roses were drooping and dying and her bobbed, beuna locks needed brushing. On her feet were bizarre Russian boots, and her gown trimmed with white lamb's wool, was a stunning thing of black and red and gray stripes over an orange bodice.

They sat on the upper deck of the Ellis Island ferry—Isadora and Serge—on the way back to Manhattan. Isadora gave one bored glance at the famous skyline, softened by the haze of twilight, and turned her head. But Serge gave it his attention. He said it was great, the most beautiful city he had ever seen. He even threatened to write a poem about it.

VILLAGE OF MUDANIA FORMS
UNIMPRESSIVE SETTING FOR
ANGLO-TURK PEACE PARLEY

MUDANIA.—By The Associated Press.—Never was there a stranger setting for a conference of world powers than this little village, on the southern shore of the sea of Marmora. Even the presence of great warships of England, France and Italy, seemed incongruous in the tiny cove belted with rocks and mud which is Mudania's harbor, for their only neighbors were a few scattered fishing boats and nondescript barges.

A few hundred yards from the point selected for the anchorage of the great Iron Duke, lay the grim skeletons, half submerged, of two Turkish transports sunk by British submarines during the world war.

Nothing about Mudania is impressive, save for the bulk of snow-capped Mount Olympus. The town is squalid and depressing, the houses are of mud, shaped like huge beetles, and the stores thrust their latticed windows into the narrow, crooked streets.

There is no sound of railway or motor truck to disturb. There is no evidence of modern life, save two telephone wires which run into the offices of the police chief and the mayor. There is no restaurant, no postoffice, no busy markets—no evidence of the modern world of business except the unpretentious office of the Standard Oil company.

The town has been of little importance, either to business or politics since the days long since past when it was the port of entry for Bursa when that city was the capital of the Turkish empire. Once, however, about a year ago, it flashed into prominence when the now deposed king Constantine of Greece made his triumphal entry into Asia Minor in the vain dream that this was to be the beginning of the re-establishment of the Greek empire.

Such was the setting today of the conference opening at 10 o'clock, to which the military representatives of the allied powers hurried across seventy miles of water from Constantinople.

The British delegation included the commander-in-chief, Brigadier General Sir Charles Harrington and Colonel W. H. Gribbon and Major Heywood of the general headquarters staff. The French and Italian delegations were similarly limited.

Every effort was made to maintain complete secrecy and privacy for the conference and the bay was effectively barricaded.

OF BADGER VIEWS

Enforcement Statutes Will Not

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin primary election failed to furnish the "slightest gauge of Wisconsin's sentiment on beer and wine," the anti-saloon league declared Tuesday in a statement setting forth that, in its view, the present state enforcement statute will go through the next legislature without being weakened.

While to a casual observer the wets seem to have won a sweeping victory in the recent election, the facts are that the result shows Wisconsin to be against beer and wine by approximately 35,000 votes," the statement said. The league estimates that 65 percent of the LaFollette-Blaine vote was wet and 35 percent dry, while that for Ganfield and Morgan was 100 percent dry.

"Since it was the votes of these dries, uniting with the solid wets, that made the present situation possible," the league says, "that the obligation clearly rests upon the dries now to prevent weakening of the enforcement law or adoption of memorials for beer by making it plain that if such a course be taken they will visit vengeance swift and sure upon the administration at the next election."

"We know that the dry LaFollette-Blaine supporters are even impatient with this fact on the administration. As a consequence, we believe that the wets will find the governor as powerless to add them at he pleaded to be in the last legislature."

Ruby Diamonds Couldn't Stand the

Among the crown jewels of the Hapsburgs were two large diamonds of ruby tint which were always regarded as especially valuable and whenever the royal jewels were placed on exhibition these stones were under special guard. It was necessary some time ago to dispose of the jewels and as they were being prepared for exhibition, prior to being offered for sale, they were put through a wash which unfortunately removed the color of the precious stones and left them perfectly white. Instead of demanding a fabulous price as ruby diamonds they were sold simply as white stones.

Keep Europe Clean

PROBABLY there are few people who understand very much of what went on in Asia Minor before the present crisis who feel approval for the course of the powers which brought it on. They realize very well that behind the smoke-screen of indignation against the Turks there lie shabby facts having to do with efforts to exploit Near East resources, and financial quarrels going back to the days of the post-war peace conference and the division of the swag at that time. Nevertheless, there are certain things that white men and Christians will not care to see result from the present disturbance, however unpleasant may have been the precedent maneuvers which brought matters to the present pass. Chief among these, we think, is the return of the Turk to Europe. The Turk in Europe has been an enslaver, a corruptionist, an oppressor and a barbarian. He has never aided any part of the world to rise in the scale of civilization upon which he had his grip. On the Thracian question it is nothing to the point to say that the Greeks were defeated in an unjustifiable effort to expand in Asia Minor. Constantine's expedition was unjustified, very likely, but that does not justify the return of any portion of Europe to the Moslem. It is in part a question of race and religion. But still more it seems to be a question of the safety of civilization. The strip of water dividing Europe from Asia Minor is a bulwark against an irruption of semi-savages who would find fanatic joy in crushing out the things that white civilization has built. And it should be maintained. In Constantinople the Turks seem sure to get a bridge-head across this water, at the best. They should not be allowed more. Whether Thrace should go to Greece, be split up, or be made a neutral strip under the League of Nations or an inter-allied administration one might be slow to judge. But that it should not go back to the Turk is something that can be decided without hesitation. It will be unfortunate if the rivalries between France and England at the forthcoming conference should lead to any disagreement on this point. Here the white men's governments should stand solidly together.

A New Triangle

ISADORA DUNCAN breaks into the news because, having married a Russian, she is held up on attempting to return to the United States. But that isn't what interests the public and makes Isadora a headliner in the news. The "feature" is that Isadora's husband can't talk to her. She speaks French and English. He speaks neither. So they have a third member of the "family"—an interpreter. No wonder people are interested in this curious marriage. They are trying to figure out what happened at the tender moment when Mr. Isadora proposed, and wondering how a courtship and honeymoon could be conducted through an interpreter. They are trying to figure out what fun either of the pair can find in a marriage where love passages are relayed through a third party, and in which neither husband nor wife can have the satisfaction of a nice private fight (with reconciliation to follow) when there is one of those everyday little grouches to be worked off. Ninety per cent of the people are more interested in something like that than in the biggest political or financial news of the day. The reason is that mighty few people are financiers or much more than sideline rooters in politics, but they all know about marriage from the inside.

Shady Business

WE have often suspected that Americans with money invested in Mexico have had to do with the repeated insurrections there, in the hope that if affairs got bad enough the United States would step in, ultimately annex Mexico and make their properties worth many times what they paid. But they have gone a step farther now, and in New York an organization has capitalized a Mexican revolution and is selling stock at $10 a share. We only wish that the gentlemen who are so interested in war with Mexico could be induced to invest in this transparently "speculative" promotion. But few of them will be found on its subscription list, we suspect. The chief victims will be the general public. The propertied gentlemen with oil and other Mexican interests will continue, no doubt, to invest in Mexican disturbance, but they will be their own promoters. This Mexican revolution business, by the way, seems to be petering out somewhat. The Juarez "revolution" which bloomed on the front pages a week ago turns out to be just a drunken jag-party indulged in by certain members of the city garrison inclined to shoot up the town, and now blue sky promoters are edging in. It won't even be respectable to yell for war with Mexico if this keeps on.

Lenin Grows Modest

LENIN, for months an invalid, has returned to Moscow and resumed charge of the soviet state. He has built a big glass cage on the top of the Kremlin in which he will do his work. The urge to remark something about not throwing stones, in this connection, is almost irresistible, but what we wanted to notice was the serious fact that "arrival of the head of the soviet government was extremely quiet, owing to Lenin's dislike of ceremonial," as the dispatches said. This seems a reversal of form. A big crowd and a chance to make a speech has seemed to be the breath of Mr. Lenin's nostrils ever since the revolution which gave him the reins. One wonders if his "dislike of ceremonial," in view of recent rapid strategic retreats in soviet policy, may not be closely related to a dislike for a bullet, a brick, or even an unpleasant demonstration. Lots of hungry people in Russia are beginning to look around for the man to blame, and government always needs a cyclone cellar when people get that way.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

A party composed of Otto Bosshard, Percy Bentley, Carl Michel, R. Humboldt and H. O. Klein left La Crosse this morning on an automobile tour that will extend over several states and will occupy three weeks. They expect to arrive at Lexington, Kentucky October 12 and will remain there for three days during the famous Kentucky races. They will start the return trip October 15. The whole trip will cover 2,300 miles.

E. E. Bentley today tendered his resignation as trustee of the Oak Grove Cemetery association on account of his removal from the city. He has served in that office for eighteen years.

Aviator Carney of Gays Mills made a successful cross country aeroplane flight of thirty miles over Crawford county yesterday in a Curtiss-Wright bi-plane. During his flight he passed over Soldiers' Grove, passed west of Rising Sun and over Sterling.

Mrs. F. H. Pope, worthy matron of Ruth Chapter No. 23, left Tuesday for Milwaukee as delegate to the annual convention of the grand chapter.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

La Crosse is in imminent danger of a shortage of all kinds of fuel. Coal is scarcely to be had on account of the coal strike and inquiries develop that there is very little wood for sale. It has been ordered from the pinneries but the demand all over the northwest is so great that orders cannot be filled fast enough.

Miss May Drake and Mr. Frank Grover, both of La Crosse, were united in marriage last evening at the home of the bride, 139 South Ninth street. Rev. E. E. Ferris of the Baptist church performed the ceremony. They will go to Emporia, Kansas, to reside.

William Borreson, teller in the State bank, has purchased the Novelty Restaurant from C. A. Sterling and will take over the proprietorship next week. Paul Schultz will then be promoted to collector.

Frank Colton of Fire Station No. 1 and F. V. Schaller of Station No. 2 have resigned to take positions on the railroad. Edward O'Neill and Chris Allisch will take their places.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The cornerstone of the new Catholic church of St. John in North La Crosse was laid yesterday afternoon with appropriate services. The ceremony was witnessed by hundreds of people. All the Catholic societies turned out in full uniform. Addresses were made by Vicar General Geyer, Rev. A. Miller and Father Ritz, the pastor of the church. The new church is 100x48 feet in size and cost $15,000. The structure is to be finished in December.

The new Masonic Temple at Tomah was dedicated by Grand Master Ring the evening of October 1. The temple is in the upper story of a new brick building and the Masons own all that part which they use. About 200 guests were served at the banquet which marked the dedication.

Carter's Anguished Moment

BY H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

"Say you don't mind, Stan! Just this once," coaxed Stanley Davidson's charming fiancée. "It's my last real fling before I settle down forever."

The man gazed smilingly down into the girl's face. Was it impossible that she should settle down? She was ten years younger than himself and he loved her for her very youth and liveliness and yearned for the time when her gay spontaneity should be definitely in his keeping.

"Let's see, Maida, just what is this last mad fling idea?" he asked tentatively, slipping an arm about her slim waist and drawing her close. "You want to go on to the boys' commencement without your ring, keeping it a terribly dark secret that you belong to me. Am I right?"

Maida nodded a fluffy bobbed head. "Precisely, Stan. Mad, of course, I'll behave myself. Only, well, you can imagine how much fun anybody's fiancée would have at the senior ball and chapter dances without the man she's engaged to. If only you could come!"

"Wish I could, dear, but it's out of the question," Stan spoke decisively. "Now, how about those irrepressible 'brothers of yours'? Won't they let the cat out of the bag?"

"I'll manage them," promised Maida easily. "And you're a dear, Stan. I shall be thinking of you every single moment."

Stanley, if he rather doubted that statement, did not say so. Enough that he had won Maida's promise to be his wife and so much of her heart that he knew in time he could capture the rest. As for this matter of the very best of friends, he was not surprised. Maida's twin brothers, William and Bob, had managed to get through college with credit, scholastically, with honors. Popular, attractive, young fellows, they had a host of friends all prepared to give their sister a rousing good time whatever she might prove to be herself. As it was, from the moment she arrived on the scene, expensively and magnificently demure, unmistakably ready to be entertained, the boys capitulated utterly.

There had been a little session with Bob and William on the way up from the station regarding Stanley, whose search advised they were not surprised. "Shame he couldn't come," said William, "and awfully decent of him to let you loose. I say, sis, where's your ring?"

"Now, Bill," pleaded Maida, "don't mention rings. No one's to know I'm engaged and Stan's perfectly willing."

"Aw, go on, Maida, that isn't fair," protested Bob.

"Let the kid alone," insisted William, and the matter was temporarily dropped.

Alumni Day, Baccalaureate, Class Day, the hour sped, in an evening, exciting, absorbing, colorful. Maida danced from one frolic to another, and the thought of Stan sometimes dimmed for a moment it was not surprising. A dazzling galaxy of youths had constituted themselves her escorts and she radiated smiles and fox trots and tere-a-toses impartially.

Of them all, Maida felt herself particularly drawn to Bob's roommate, Carter. He, too, was a sort of masculine counterpart of her own reckless, happy-go-lucky self.

"Carter's got one case on the kid," Bob confided gloomily to his brother as they struggled with collars and ties and studs and the hush of the room the night of the senior ball.

"Not the only one," grinned William. "I say, sis, is some little heartbreaker."

"Cold-blooded little creature. Like all girls," crumpled Bob. "Listen to me, Bill, and I'll tell you a mighty good way to cure her. Carter would be just the fellow to do it, too. Now, just suppose—"

William listened to the proposed scheme in silence. Then, "Cut it out," he said bluntly. "Don't play with fire."

But at that moment the wet, tumbled head of Carter himself was poked in at the door. "Hey, fellows, got a towel?"

The senior ball had gone its gay way for several hours when Carter first found himself alone with Maida on a cool, dimly lighted balcony just off the dance floor. The girl's dusky beauty was very alluring.

"Miss Trentine," Carter's voice was as cool and deliberate as if it had merely for the next dance—"will you marry me?"

Maida's heart really did lose a beat. Where were her thoughts of her fiancée as she scanned Carter's handsome face and the heavy mustache bunched all lovely? For a moment she toyed with her fan. Then she drew a little half-sighing breath as one whom emotion overpowers.

"Why—why—Carter! This is sudden, but I—I guess so."

Maida's glance was cast modestly downward or she might have been startled to see an expression of consternation, almost horror, creep over the face of the man who had just proposed. He swallowed, bit his lip, then rose unsteadily. "This is—the wonderful. I—I'm at a loss, for words. My—my good fortune."

At that moment two tall figures blocked the balcony entrance. One was Bob. "That you, Maida? Well, here's a surprise."

Maida turned quickly. "Stan! You darling! How did you manage?" She drew him aside in seeming forgetfulness of the others—even of the man she had just practically promised to marry. And there we can safely leave them for a moment while Carter, with a face like a thundercloud, dragged Bob out of hearing and pitched into him without mercy.

A nice mess you've got me into, telling me your sister was engaged and daring me to propose to her! Hang it, she's accepted me!"

But Bob threw back his head and laughed. "Oh, boy, you're muddled. I'd have given something for a sight of you when she did it!" Then he sobered. "Don't worry. It seems old Bill thought it was a shabby trick to play on her and put her wise to our little scheme, and sis out of sheer jealousy, played up. Thank the Lord, Stan cracked business and came. I'd rather chapter a Cook's tour of schoolgirls than one engaged girl without her ring!"

But Maida, bubbling over, was reliving the last few days with Stan. "Oh, my dear, it's been just wonderful. My last mad fling! I'm ready to settle down, for I've been to my last senior ball, dined for the last silly time and asked my last proposal!"

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of calomine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The calomine powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method. (Advertisement)

One Oven for Coal—One for Gas

And No Combination Ever Made Bakes So Perfectly with Either Fuel

HERE is the Gas-Coal Combination for the housekeeper who wants perfect baking whether she uses coal or gas. A standard gas range and a standard coal or wood range designed so compactly that it requires no more space than the average cabinet gas range alone.

It is really two raffles at the price of one. Absolutely ideal for the housekeeper who wants to use gas part of the time, and coal or wood in chilly weather. Or on occasions when you need double cooking capacity, use both at the same time.

You will be proud to have this handsome range in your kitchen—and to know how easy it is to keep it looking like new. No stove blacking is needed. No black bottoms on pots and kettles. Come and see it.

BRIDGE TURNPIKE OPPOSITE WINONA PRONOUNCED SAFE

Temporary Repairs Made on Dangerous Road Under Direction of Highway Board

Temporary repair of the Wisconsin bridge opposite Winona has been both quickly and well done, according to citizens who have viewed the project. The work was done under the personal supervision of Joseph T. Nienheck, maintenance engineer of the Wisconsin highway department.

The repair was undertaken as a result of a conference of Wisconsin and Minnesota state highway department officials and interested citizens in this city September 18. The work was started Thursday, September 20, and completed Saturday.

The road was widened in many places, graded, and leveled, while brush and trees were cut. Winona county has leased the Wisconsin highway department 500 metal posts which have been placed on each side as markers indicating the edge of the road.

Until the road is incorporated next season into the Wisconsin trunk highway system, raised above the high water mark, and rebuilt, it will have patrol maintenance by Ben Merette of Buffalo county, formerly a district patrolman.

The temporary improvement, which is described by observers as excellent, was made possible by financial contributions from private sources. The contributions were handled by the committee consisting of H. C. Garvin, C. A. Polley and C. A. Bolton, appointed at the meeting in Winona September 18.

A SLOPPY WEATHER SYMPHONY

A fashion hint from Paris seems to indicate that "Silks, velvets, cottons, rags," as the nursery rhyme goes, all will take a back place this season in favor of the new pucker-satin.

This strange looking material is being used extensively in the making of every article of feminine attire, from bathing caps to "boudoir boots."

It has the appearance of an ordinary piece of satin that has been left out in the rain all night, shrunk to a quarter its size, rolled up tightly in a cloth while still damp, then taken out and turned into madam's best and most expensive clothes.

This, and the extensive use of spangless fringe, are the chief fashion notes of the moment.

There is no escaping this airy, glistening fringe. It falls from toques and hats—obliterating one or both eyes—decorated handbags, evening shoes and hair combs, and transforms an ordinary bathing suit into what appears to be a Hawaiian woman's best party frock.

CAVE CENTER OF THE COUNTRY

The Shenandoah valley is achieving a reputation for its caves. It has a large collection of great ones and innumerable smaller ones. Those of Luray in Page county have been known for some time and have been visited by thousands of persons from all over the world, but in recent years other caves have been discovered and opened which are just as notable and interesting. These are Weaver's Cave in northern Augusta county; Engle's Cave in Shenandoah county; and the Shenandoah caverns which were the last to open. Some persons claim that the latter are the most wonderful of the group. The reason of the presence of these caves is that there is a great deal of soft limestone in this vicinity and the water has gradually been washed away and left these great holes.

ANTI-SUICIDE BUREAU SAVES MANY FROM TAKING OWN LIVES

Six forms of Salvation Army service are explained in this one picture. There are ten more, not illustrated, there being sixteen in all. One thousand, one hundred and seventeen free employment bureaus are operated by the Salvation Army throughout the United States. These bureaus deal specifically with the chronic unemployed and seasonable labor and relieve dependent charity cases by its operation. Forty-four thousand, seven hundred and seventy-six prisoners asked the Salvation Army for advice in the year of 1921. Ten thousand more were helped and found positions upon their discharge. Three thousand and ninety-three were paroled to the Salvation Army. The Salvation Army acts not only as a spiritual adviser but as a practical friend to these involuntary shut-ins. Two million, four hundred thousand temporarily stranded men were fed free of charge by Salvation Army hotels. Over two million nights' rest were given the unemployed. Every Salvation Army officer spends eighteen hours week visiting the homes of the unfortunate. Two hundred and ninety-three thousand whom all others had forgotten were fed by the Salvation Army last Christmas. Before committing suicide see the Salvation Army. It will dissuade you and prove to you that you have a good chance to make good, and it will give you the chance, straighten out your difficulties and put you on your feet.

PEERLESS QUARTET WITH THE FAMOUS VICTOR ARTISTS

Considerable interest has been aroused through the announcement recently made by the Fred Leithold Piano Co. that the eight famous Victor artists are to again appear in La Crosse, at the La Crosse theatre, on Thursday evening, October 5th. "What is it that has eight legs and sings?" And the answer is "A Quartet." Those who heard the Peerless Quartet when it appeared here last season will speak for the excellence of their ensemble work. For the benefit of those who do not know the men in the organization the following is given:

Albert Campbell, first tenor, has gained fame through his duets with Henry Burr. He has a lyric tenor of pure quality. Small of stature, he is only 5 feet 4 inches in height and weighs around 130 pounds, his voice is of sufficient volume to fill the largest auditorium.

Henry Burr, second tenor, is probably the most famous American tenor. A feature of his work is his clear enunciation, every word being as plain as it is possible to make it. Burr, while only two inches taller than Campbell, doubles his weight and then some.

John Meyer, baritone, for a long time devoted a great deal of his time to church work, having held the position of soloist in a number of New York's best known churches.

Frank Croxton is just what a bass singer is pictured to be: Big of stature, he stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 270 pounds, he has a voice of great beauty and power. Favorably known as a concert and oratorio artist he has forsaken that field for the more interesting talking machine work.

Other members of the eight famous Victor artists are, Billy Murray, tenor-comedian; Monroe Silver, monologist; Rudy Wiedoeft, saxophonist; Frank Banta, pianist. The Sterling Trio (Campbell-Burr-Meyer) are programmed for several numbers.

The program, to be announced shortly, is entirely new.

OPENING CONCERT IN NORMAL LECTURE COURSE IS PLEASING

Three Artists Delight Large Audience at the Local School Monday Night

A concert which completely satisfied the demands of the most critical music lovers and which was enjoyed by a full house marked the opening of the normal lecture course Monday night.

Miss Gladys Swarthout, soprano; James Hamilton, tenor, and Hubert Carlin, pianist, comprised the trio which scored a musical triumph at the Normal last night. A varied program, ranging from blithesome southern melodies to operatic numbers calling for the greatest technique and skill, occupied an hour and a half and sent the big audience away in happy mood, expressing enjoyment of the event.

Miss Swarthout has a beautiful, rich, clear soprano voice, and, combined with a thorough understanding of the themes of her songs, sings with an expression and sweetness which captivates her audience. She was heard to the best advantage in religious numbers and in such songs as "Thank God For a Garden," although her operatic numbers brought out the full power and richness of her voice as well as displaying dramatic training.

Mr. Hamilton has a clear, pure tenor voice and displayed versatility in his wide range of numbers. He sang selections from "La Tosca" and "Pagliacci" and negro melodies with equal facility. Like Miss Swarthout, he showed dramatic temperament in the more difficult numbers.

Mr. Carlin's piano accompaniment was superb and he played two numbers and an encore in artistic style.

La Crosse musicians voted it a splendid entertainment.

ALASKA AS A TRUCK GARDEN

There is a great deal of misconception regarding the climate of Alaska, which is due to the fact that Alaska really has two climates. The mountain chain along the coast is responsible for this remarkable condition. There is a great deal of lowland between the mountains and the ocean and the climate of this section is not severe. It is said that the climate of Sitka, which was the old capital, is about comparable to that of Washington, D. C., and farther south along the Alaskan coast it is even milder. The western slope of the mountains is maintained at a fairly comfortable temperature by the action of a gulf stream which is tempered, coming from the south. Here they have a short, warm sub-arctic summer the same as is experienced by many thriving communities of Europe. Crops grow with double speed and vigor on account of the long summer days and it is therefore possible to grow a great many kinds of grain and vegetables, which are grown farther south.

PAIR OF ROVING LIONS REPORTED NEAR OHIO TOWN

MOUNT VICTORY, Ohio. — Reports of a Big Four engineer and fireman that they had seen two lions just ahead of their train at ten o'clock Monday night, have spurred bands of villagers to renew their hunt for the beasts which have been reported in this vicinity.

The animals were seen two miles east of here, on the W. W. Borden farm, several miles from the spot where they were seen by William Wilkerson.

Hunting parties have reported finding several spots in the woods where some large animals have slept but there was nothing to determine whether they were lions or some wandering stock. Hunters believe that the lions are confining their activities to night time and possess are being organized to scour the country after dark.

LANDING GEAR IS LOST; ARMY PILOT CRASHES TO EARTH

Captain Skeel Will Recover from Injuries Sustained in Accident Monday

FELLOW-FLYERS TRY IN VAIN TO SIGNAL DANGER TO PILOT

Unable to Make Him Realize Danger and Plane Crashes

MONT CLEMENS, Mich.—Captain Bert E. Skeel of the Twenty-fourth squadron of the army aero first pursuit group, was recovering Tuesday from injuries sustained Monday when he landed without a landing gear on Selfridge field in an airplane he had driven in a test flight preparatory to the Pulitzer air race, October 14. As he rose for his trial spin the wheels of his landing gear fell from the machine. Unaware of the accident, although other flyers made frantic efforts to warn him of his danger, Captain Skeel circled over Lake St. Clair for half an hour, then returned to the field and crashed in landing.

Hundreds of army and navy aviators who saw the flyer's plight, vainly attempted to signal him. A dozen flyers took the air and circled about Skeel. The latter, however, believed the others were challenging him to a race and sped away. As Skeel returned over the field other officers wheeled the landing gear into view and dangled wheels from other machines in the effort to transmit their message. They were unable, however, to make the aviator realize his danger.

When it was seen a crash was unavoidable an ambulance was brought to the field. When Skeel crashed, his friends rushed to him and removed him from the wreckage unconscious. At a hospital later it was learned his injuries probably will not prove serious.

Captain Skeel will drive one of the army entries in the Pulitzer race.

SEEK MISSING MAN ON GRAVE ROBBERY AND ARSON CHARGE

Charred Body Found in Garage Ruins Stolen from Cemetery; Charge Insurance Fraud

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—By The Associated Press.—Charging arson and grave robbery, a warrant was in the hands of the police Tuesday for the arrest of Harry R. Brown, missing since September 25, when his garage at Oakville, Mo., was burned. In the ruins was found a charred body which at first was believed to be that of Brown but later found to be that of Miss Catherine Schneider, which was stolen from its grave in Mount Hope cemetery.

Brown's wife is under arrest in connection with the case.

The warrants charge Brown with having stolen the corpse from the cemetery, placing it in his garage and setting fire to the garage. The motive, according to the police, was to obtain $6,000 insurance.

SIBERIA HAS GREAT POSSIBILITIES

It is probable that Siberia will one day become an extremely rich country, for it has a natural wealth so diversified and yet almost untouched that it has no rival in the old world. How vast this wealth is is described by A. Kammer in "La Nature." Before the war Siberia was producing from one million to one million three hundred thousand tons of flour a year. As a grazing country it has no limits, and it exports large quantities of leather, tallow and butter. Its forests are almost inexhaustible and it supplies furs to all the world. Its mineral wealth can only be guessed at, for the greater part of the country has never been prospected, but there are several enormous deposits of oil.

VEGETATION BOOSTS AUTO ENGINE

Persons who have occasion to drive over the same road by automobile have frequently noticed that at certain localities, the engine seems to gather speed in some mysterious manner. These spots are more or less well-known among drivers and the acquired speed is quite perceptible. For a long time this conduct on the part of the engine was not to be explained, but it is now thought to be due to the character and density of the vegetation along the road at those particular spots. The plants give off oxygen and this greatly enriches the fuel, causing the engine to "pick up" very materially.

BEG YOUR PARDON

On Monday, September 25, an article appeared in the Tribune telling of the assault of John Stulken, 1929 Kane street, by unidentified strangers, near the corner of Rublee and Wood streets. The man attacked was John Stulken, who lives in the upper part of 1929 Kane street. E. A. Stulken occupies the lower floor.

MRS. D. SPENCER IS HAPPILY SURPRISED ON 72ND BIRTHDAY

CHILDREN and grand children assisted Mrs. D. Spencer, 1526 Liberty street, in the celebration of her seventy-second birthday on Sunday, by surprising her Saturday evening. Ice cream and cake were served. Gifts and flowers were showered upon her with congratulations and wishes for many happy returns of the day. Mrs. Spencer is president of the John Flynn Relief Corps, thus keeping in touch with the corps activities, and other social and church affairs, which helps her to keep young in spirit and enjoy life. Mrs. Spencer held the same office at the time of her celebration of her fiftieth anniversary, being presented with a handsome chair at that time. Her many friends hope that she will enjoy many more happy years and that on her eightieth birthday may be again honored with her present position with the lodge. The members of the family present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and sons, Harold and Ralph Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Staats, children, Raynard, John and Ethel Maude, Mr. and Mrs. Major Spencer and son, Beverly, Mrs. Maude Craig and son, Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Staats.

AT SEVEN O'CLOCK at St. James church Saturday morning a pretty marriage was solemnized when Esterre J. Zimmer, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmer, 1702 Kane street, became the bride of Charles J. Lang of Minneapolis. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eulalia Zimmer, and Mr. John Merfeld was the best man. The bride was attired in a handsome gown of white Canton Crepe; her veil was in cap effect and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and swansons. The bridesmaid wore a gown of peach colored taffeta with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, to relatives and intimate friends.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stamm of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Himmelsbach of Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lang left on a late train on their honeymoon, and will be at home to friends after October 15th at 1410 Stevens Avenue, Minneapolis.

THE REVEREND Halvor N. Bakke of Peterson, Minn., and Miss Lager Marie Maland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erik Maland of Winona county, were married at the Central Lutheran church in Winona at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Sunday by Rev. H. J. Wein. The couple was attended by Miss Eunice Maland and Mr. Ernest Maland. The bride is a graduate nurse of the Lutheran hospital of this city. She spent nine months as Red Cross nurse in France during the world war. Rev. and Mrs. Bakke will reside at Peterson, where the Rev. Mr. Bakke is in charge of two churches.

THE MEN'S Fellowship league of the First Presbyterian church will partake of the opening supper of the fall activities of the society Tuesday night at the church parlors at 4:30. The members of the Needlecraft club will be the hostesses. "Snap Shots of Vacation" will be the theme of the table talk and Mr. E. L. Walters will preside. Mr. F. H. Scofield, chairman of the building improvement committee, will give a report.

MRS. ALLEN E. WILSON of Milwaukee is the guest of her father, John Dalton of Onalaska.

MRS. JOSEPH GUTMAN, who has been spending the summer months with her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Schoen of Minneapolis, has arrived for an indefinite stay at the home of her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Morris E. Tuteur.

THE LOWER division of the bazaar workers of the Ladies' Aid society of the Canton Street Methodist church will entertain at supper at the church parlors on Wednesday night from 5 o'clock until all are served. The committee in charge is Mesdames A. B. Berg, Linwood Widrick, Frank Nieland, Charles Greer, Roy Staats, J. W. Riebach, M. V. Spencer, Edward Groeschner and Maude Johnson.

MR. AND MRS. Wellington B. Upton, 612 King street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Josephine Emma Mae, to Mr. William J. Tomsieck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Tomsieck of this city. The ceremony took place on Tuesday, October 3, at St. Paul. Mr. Tomsieck is instructor of chemistry and physics at St. John's college at St. Paul, where they will reside.

LEROY J. PETERSON of Melrose, Ill., and Miss Caroline Severson of this city secured a marriage license at Waukegan, Ill., on Monday, October 2.

MR. AND MRS. C. F. Siloway and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burghman and daughter have returned to their home at Chicago after a visit at the home of Mrs. Siloway's mother, Mrs. T. J. Schomers, 1402 George street. They returned home by the way of Prairie du Chien.

A SON was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Kautz, 714 South Seventh street, at St. Ann's hospital Monday evening at 6 o'clock.

MRS. WILLIAM WAIN, 815 Denison street, was hostess to a group of little folks in compliment to the fourth birthday of her small daughter, Mary.

Jane. The children made merry with games and a dainty luncheon was served at five o'clock. The table was prettily decorated. The birthday child was showered with useful gifts and happy wishes for the return of the joyous day. The guests were the little Misses May Nettall, Ellen Stellick, Alice Berner, Dorothy Niedbalski, Josephine Werel, Florence Nielsen, Marcelle Fuchs and Masters George Poellinger, Sam and John Niedbalski, Donald Stellick, George Abel, Earl Nielsen, Jr., and grandma Wain.

SHORT NEW COAT

Copyright by W. F. Calles

Among the many new models of full coats and wraps the short jacket seems to have an enviable popularity.

It is bloused and has a wide band around the hips which fastens snugly. A high collar usually accompanies it. The coat itself is frequently made of caracul cloth with collar and cuffs.

Though it is popular as a suit coat it is seen just as frequently as a separate wrap. The sleeves are either tight or loose as one prefers.

PLENTY OF WATER IN OLD ROME
It is said that ancient Rome consumed no less than three hundred and forty million gallons of water a day, and a most noticeable feature of the modern city is the prodigious effervescence of its water, gushing from fountains of every conceivable size and design. The old Roman baths required much water. The splendid Thermae built by the degenerate Emperor Caligula had a accommodation for sixteen hundred bathers. Besides the baths proper, the establishment included within its area of about a quarter of a mile square a gymnasium, athletic field, library and racecourse.

BADGER UNIVERSITY WILL HAVE LARGEST BEE MEN'S LIBRARY

C. C. Miller Memorial Collection to be Established at Madison School

MADISON, Wis.—The largest collection of information on beekeeping to be found in America will be established at Madison. It was learned Tuesday when a committee of Representative apirarists decided to make the University of Wisconsin the home of the Dr. C. C. Miller Memorial Library.

This, its sponsors believe, is destined to be one of the greatest collections of literature on beekeeping in the world. Contributions for the up-building of the library have been received from most of the states of the union. A sum of $2,000 is now available and will be turned over to the university for investment in beekeeping works.

Every beekeeping publication in the world is being asked to give one free permanent subscription to their journal to the library. Donations of books on bee culture are also being sought by the committee in charge. It is the plan of the committee to have the memorial library dedicated at the next Beekeepers' chaufauqua to be held in Madison August 13 to 18, 1923.

AMERICAN SUBSTITUTE FOR TEA

Throughout South America there is a large consumption of Yerba Mate, which is prepared in much the same manner as tea and consumed as such. It makes a pleasant beverage of a slightly stimulating character. Much of it is sent abroad to be used by persons who for one reason or another do not desire tea or coffee. It is not generally known, but in this country we have just such a plant which is known as Yampun. It is found at its best along the Atlantic coast from Virginia to Florida along the edge of certain marshes. When properly prepared, it makes a delicious drink and was largely used by the early settlers, who learned the art of brewing it from the Indians. With the introduction of tea, the domestic article was discarded and at present its virtues are little known.

"DINTY MOORE'S" PLACE IS

MEXICO CITY.—When an enterprising American woman in Mexico City recently opened a "Hole in the Wall," catering to the exclusive tastes of homesick "starkers" who tire of chiles and frijoles and yearn for hot cakes and doughnuts, she started something. An epidemic of shops, restaurants and the like, reminiscent of "back home" has broken out and the Americans are showing their loyalty by patronizing them liberally.

A stroll down Madero avenue discloses a white-capped, white-aproned gentleman in an expansive window performing well known "contortions" with griddle cakes. In the next block one may read this sign: "Sinkers and coffee, 25 cents." One of the most popular places in the city has been "Number 14," a tiny establishment on a side street where friendly invitations are made to have a "Tom and Jerry" or a "Genuine Rye Highball," creations that were never conceived in Mexico, but were born of pre-war genius in the United States.

It remained, however, for several San Franciscans to reap a rich harvest from homesick Americans. They started a cantina and they christened it "Dinty Moore's," and to the eternal glory of American citizenship may it be said that they have charged the place three times in two weeks in order to accommodate the crowds that clamor for corned beef and cabbage, virtually the only item on the bill of fare.

PARENTS ARE FINED WHEN CHILDREN ARE TARDY AT SCHOOL

Virgin Islands Have Nearest Perfect Attendance of Any in the World

CHARLOTTE AMELIAE, St. Thomas, V. I.—The Virgin Islands have the nearest to 100 per cent attendance in the public schools of any state, territory or possession of the United States, according to comparative statistics from Washington.

The school year which has just opened probably will show as high a percentage of attendance as last year, which was a fraction less than 99 per cent. It is not unusual for a school to report 100 per cent attendance week after week.

There is compulsory education for all children from 6 to 15 years of age. When a child is absent from school without proper excuse the parents are fined 20 cents for each day of absence. Parents are fined 10 cents for every time a scholar is tardy. When sickness is reported as the cause of absence, school nurses investigate, and only on certificates from these school nurses is the excuse of illness recognized. Simple treatment by the nurses frequently makes it possible for a child to return to the class room.

With this system of fines "playing hooky" is practically unknown in the Virgin Islands.

When the United States by purchase acquired the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917, there was already a well established public school system, and it is estimated there was less than five per cent illiteracy in the island. The school system, however, then extended only to the sixth grade. Since then the seventh and eighth grades have been established generally, and two junior high schools have been opened, with the junior year being offered this year for the first time. In another year it is planned to establish the fourth and last year of high school study.

Children in the Virgin Islands are anxious to learn, according to School Director Rose, head of the insular system, and the collecting of fines for tardiness and absence does not yield more than $10 per month. This year there are 15 school teachers from the United States giving instructions in the island schools, while all of the other teachers are Virgin Islanders.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Bottles were popping incessantly in the Chemistry Lab Monday morning due to the carelessness of Chemistry 1 students who were engaged in the process of the formation of oxides. Professor Maxfield was forced to retreat from the room in order to escape the flying glass. No one was fatally injured.

Students with the reputation of flunking are fearfully awaiting the outcome of their lack of work during the first quarter of the school semester. Examinations were held in practically every subject last week.

The organization of a high school band of the subject of interest in the musical circles of the L. C. H. S. The orchestra has been divided into two sections, one for the beginners, and the other for those more experienced. Plans are also under way to establish a drum corps. This, however, demands more enthusiastic support to become an immediate success.

A representative council, to be organized on democratic principles, is being elected from every department of the school, and shall be composed of both teachers and students. The purpose of this body is to regulate school activities and create a better school spirit.

Right in the midst of a very interesting and exciting argument during the meeting of the Lincoln-Douglas Debating society last Friday evening, the argument was settled by the light and Power company when the lights suddenly went out. The cause of this unusual catastrophe was probably the large amount of hot air in the room. Peterson had the floor.

TREES FROM HISTORIC VERDUN

Chestnut trees are to be grown in England from chestnuts picked up in Verdun. Lord French, when visiting the camp, picked some up, explaining his intention of planting them in his grounds at home as future monuments to the glory of Verdun. The Verdun municipality has received hundreds of requests from England for chestnuts. Since the municipality is not in Verdun, but in Paris, the requests have been forwarded to M. Proust, the commissary of police, who remains in town. He had done all he can to satisfy the demand, getting chestnuts and acorns dug out from what were once Vaux and Remaumont woods and from the public squares of Verdun itself.

Nature's remedy for constipation will give you permanent relief!

Thousands upon thousands of people are today suffering from constipation in all its hideousness; few realize either the cause of their condition or what it will eventually lead to. Ask the average man or woman if they are constipated and they will answer "No!" This they firmly believe. But the first thing the physician asks his patient is—"Let me see your tongue." If the tongue is coated he knows the patient is suffering from constipation!

A coated tongue, a bad breath—they are constipation signals! Start the use of nature's remedy—BRAN—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, as fast as you can! You must eliminate this dangerous condition because it goes from bad to worse! Toxic poison spreads through the whole system; organs become affected; the brain slows down. Any one of many serious diseases is likely to follow! Fight constipation with Kellogg's Bran! For Bran is nature's own sweeper, cleanser and purifier! It will correct the most chronic case of constipation if it is eaten regularly; it is eaten each day! For mild cases, two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, eat Bran with each meal. Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran for constipation! Kellogg's Bran is fine for children, helping them grow big and robust. Kellogg's Bran is deliciously good as a cereal, sprinkled over your favorite cereal, or used in baking and cooking. It makes wonderful pancakes, muffins, raisin bread, etc. See recipes on each package! Buy Kellogg's Bran at your grocer's.

LEGISLATURE PLANS REVISION OF HEALTH AND HIGHWAY LAWS

Statutes on Two Subjects Being Re-written for Re-enactment at Next Session

MADISON, Wis.—Revision and re-enactment of Wisconsin's highway and health laws will be made by the next session of the legislature, E. J. Rossard, revisor of statutes, reported Tuesday. Statutes dealing on these two subjects are being rewritten and brought together for re-enactment by the legislature.

Mr. Rossard announced that he will call the special legislative interim committee composed of Senators George Standenmayer and George B. Skogmo, and assemblymen James B. Schme, Alexander E. Matheson and Joseph J. L. Smith, to meet during the first part of December to go over the revision of the laws before they are put into final shape for submission to the legislature.

Highway and health laws, enacted during the past 1 year are now scattered throughout the Wisconsin statutes, in many instances overlapping and in others provisions, containing obsolete sections, and often modified in part by later legislative action. Mr. Rossard says.

These laws are now being revised, with superfluous material removed, obsolete sections omitted and overlapping sections combined. The interim committee will pass on a revision before it is submitted to the legislature for approval.

Mr. Rossard is also revising the index to Wisconsin statutes, simplifying them throughout as an aid to attorneys. Complaint is being made that the present index is too limited to afford easy access to all of the state laws. Attempt is to be made to satisfy courts and lawyers with an extensive indexing.

Revising of the statutes will be completed before the legislature meets, according to Mr. Rossard, who says that the legislature will be able at this session to complete the simplification of the numbering system used to classify Wisconsin's laws.

Revision of the highway laws is occupying the greater part of Mr. Rossard's attention. Hundreds of sections of the road statutes are being brought together and classified into a simple code, easily accessible to any interested person.

Laws governing the construction and maintenance of fences are being rewritten and codified, as are statutes governing a number of other subjects of minor importance.

REVOKE LICENSE OF 2 MILWAUKEE REAL ESTATE MEN

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin real estate brokers' board Tuesday revoked the licenses of Raymond Bluechel and Otto Marske, real estate brokers, having offices at 662 Third street, Milwaukee. Violation of the real estate brokerage rules of the board were charged.

Two applications for licenses were denied by the board on the ground that the applicants intended to sell oil leases.

FEWER VIOLATIONS OF GAME LAWS ARE REPORTED BY BARBER

MADISON, Wis.—That there have been fewer violations of the game laws reported this year than in any year past was the statement on Tuesday of Chairman W. E. Barber of the state conservation commission. Mr. Barber said that this applied to both the opening of the prairie chicken and duck hunting seasons.

"It's the best ever," declared Mr. Barber. "We have never had so few complaints or arrests as this year. I believe there was but one arrest for violation of the opening date on prairie chickens and the same applies to the opening of the duck season. The hunters are exhibiting their true sportsmanship in this respect."

SUIT THIEF IS GIVEN SENTENCE IN WINONA COURT

Arthur C. Nelson, 28 years old, of Rockford, Ill., pleaded guilty in municipal court at Winona to a charge of petty larceny in connection with the theft of a blue serge suit from the room of Jesse W. Franks at the Ludwig hotel on Sept. 28. Judge J. J. Fitzpatrick gave Nelson a choice of paying a $75 fine or spending 20 days in the county jail. Nelson was unable to pay the fine and took the jail sentence.

He was arrested at La Crosse after he had attracted attention by wearing the stolen suit, which was many sizes too large for him.

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY ENROLLED AT BADGER UNIVERSITY

MADISON, Wis.—To Charles E. Kading of Watertown probably goes the honor of being the youngest student to be enrolled among the 7,400 at the University of Wisconsin. Charles was fifteen last June and is the son of Charles Kading, prominent attorney. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Kading, is not only a law partner of her husband but is democratic member of the state civil service commission.

The boy is enrolled in letters and science after completion of which course he intends to take law.

GIRL OF SEVEN THE ONLY SURVIVOR OF PARTY OF 8 IN CAR STRUCK BY TRAIN

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Marvel Espen, seven, sole survivor of an automobile party in an automobile-train smash here late Monday in which seven persons were killed, was fighting for life in a local hospital Tuesday as preparations were being made for the funerals of her parents and their three small children and two friends. Marvel is suffering from many fractures and bruises. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Espen of Exeland, Wis., her two brothers, Lloyd, nine, and Glen Earl, four months old, and a sister, Frances, ten, were killed in the accident, as were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McGee of St. Paul.

The Espens were being brought by the McGees to St. Paul to move into their new house here. The lost their way and came down a side street, which was bordered by huge lumber piles. They reached the railroad tracks simultaneously with a freight train No. 7, from Chicago, on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railway.

The machine was carried 100 feet by the engine and bodies were strewn on both sides of the track.

WOMAN IS NAMED FIELD CHILD LABOR DEPUTY FOR STATE

MADISON, Wis.—The industrial commission Tuesday appointed Miss Margaret Ritscher as field child labor deputy in order to establish closer contact between the Madison office and 200 child labor permit officers throughout the state.

The commission says that these officers have been obliged to discuss their local problems and also receive their instructions by correspondence. The appointment of Miss Ritscher, it says, will greatly facilitate and make more uniform the issuing of child labor permits. Wisconsin is reported to be one of the few states in which child labor permit jurisdiction is centralized.

GIANTS AND YANKEES PRIMED FOR SERIES OPENING WEDNESDAY

FINAL WORK-OUT TUESDAY BEFORE, PREMIER BATTLES

Laurel Goes to Team Winning Four Out of Seven Games this Year

RESERVED SEATS SOLD OUT FOR FIRST SIX CONTESTS

Fair Weather and Ideal Temperatures Predicted

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—The New York Giants and Yankees, standard-bearers of the National and American leagues were tuned to concert pitch Tuesday in final work-outs in preparation for the opening Wednesday of their second struggle for premier baseball honors. The Giants were victors last year in a ten-day fight with the Yankees that lasted eight games. The latest this year will go to the team winning four out of seven.

With a shorter series, attendance records were not expected to exceed last year's high mark—269,977 paid admissions for eight games—but indications pointed to capacity demands.

Reserved Seats Sold Out
Club officials Tuesday announced a sell-out in reserved seats for the first six games with thousands of unfilled applications. This is exclusive however of 22,000 unreserved seats in the bleachers and upper tier of the grandstand which will go on sale each day at 10 a. m.

Even Babe Ruth was unable to satisfy a last minute desire for tickets. The Yank slugger appeared at the Giants' offices in this quest.

"Sorry, Babe, but there isn't even a hope left," he was told. He was but one of many.

Advance guards of delegations from all parts of the United States, Canada and adjoining points were on hand early Tuesday. The influx was expected to reach its height Tuesday night.

Promise Fair Weather
Promise of fair weather with ideal temperatures, not only for the opening game, but probably for the rest of the week, checked many untoward moves by rain.

Neither manager had committed himself to a prediction of victory. Nor that either John McGraw or Miller Huggins lacks confidence in his team but the fact remains that after all has been said, both clubs are fortified in close to an even basis with the leaders of the game likely to swing the tide toward either camp.

Pitching has been the outstanding factor in world's series triumphs over a span of two decades. Records reveal an unusual proportion of shut-outs—twelve to a third of the games ending with one team scoreless with the high mark in 1905 when the Giants blanked the Athletics four times to win while the Mackmen turned the shutout tables once.

Six of the eight games last year were nothing but shutouts, with Walter Hoyt, Phil Douglas, Jess Barnes and Art Nehf in the spotlight.

This year Huggins has five stars—Hoyt, Mays, Bush, Shawkey and Jones to oppose Scott, Nehf, McQuinn, Barnes and Ryan of the Giants.

Bush-Shawkey Stars
Bush and Shawkey stand head and shoulders above the rest in season performances. Hoyt will have the confidence gained by the brilliant showing he made last year against the Giants.

McGraw staff, faltering badly in the latter part of the campaign, apparently has rounded into more consistent form and may upset calculations which have given the Yankees so decided an edge in this department.

Bush, whom Huggins has picked to open the series, has been handicapped for a while by a stone bruise on his left foot, but the Yank manager asserted during the team's work-out yesterday that his star twirler has practically recovered. He predicted "Bullet Joe" would be in prime condition for the first game.

Southpaw Art Nehf is expected to draw McGraw's opening assignment with experts inclined to regard Scott, who has done very well in his last few games, as his second choice.

BADGER PLAYS RUN OFF WITH PRECISION AT SIGNAL DRILL AT CAMP RANDALL SATURDAY

By BOB DUNN
Coach Richards let his squad down easy on Saturday afternoon with a snappy signal practice. No scrimmage was on the program.

The regulars ran through the latest plays and formations that were given them in the evening sessions. For the past week the coach has been working with his men driving home the essential points in executing the attack he will use in the opening encounters of the season. As yet, few of these plays have been used in actual scrimmage. The secret signal practices at Camp Randall have been devoted to running over these new formations. As soon as these are perfected to such a degree that the coach wishes to try them out against the second eleven and the all-Americans it is expected that the coach will clamp the lid tighter on the daily work-outs in order to prevent information of importance leaking into rival camps, admitting only close followers of the game and representative of publications.

Show Improvement
In the snappy signal drill yesterday plays were run off with a precision that showed the results of the work put on the formations during the past week by coach and men.

Toho Bondi was again out in uniform following the plays of the regulars and it is certain that within the course of the week he will get into the scrimmage.

"Bondi is coming along in nice shape," said Trainer George Berg following yesterday afternoon's practice, and will be a big help to the team.

Outside of a few minor injuries, the entire first squad is in good shape physically. Every man has some slight ailment but there is nothing serious. Harris has been the only man who has been kept out of scrimmage because of injuries but his shoulder is getting along nicely and will permit him to get back in first class shape this week. Pulaski will also be in tip top condition. A few of the linemen are bothered with weak ankles but Berg is taking care of them and will have them in perfect condition by the time of the opening encounters, barring further injuries.

Brader Watches Carleton
Jimmie Brader traveled north yesterday to watch Carleton college

clash with St. Mary's college of Minnesota. The writer has seen St. Mary's in action often and it is safe to say that the Badger scout did of get much information from any showing made against St. Mary's. Carleton undoubtedly showed up strong in its first contest, which will send back bear stories to the Badger camp and set the men to giving more serious consideration to the first mix than is usually giving to a preliminary game.

The fact that a man was sent to scout Carleton in their first game however, shows that Richards is taking no chances on allowing his team to be trimmed by the Gophers as Chicago was in a preliminary match with the Gophers.

With one week of practice left before the first game of the season, the atmosphere at Camp Randall has cleared considerably as far as the personnel of the first outfit is concerned.

Taft appears to have taken the lead in the fight for the fullback's position and Nichols from scrimmages of the week seems to have an edge over Pearce for the center's work in the estimation of Coach Richards. Irish has been doing a lot of work at end lately in place of Pulaski but the frosh captain will undoubtedly see action as he gets into better shape. He reported to the squad lately and was sent into early scrimmages.

Tackles Established
The second week's work also has established Ruelow and Murray as fixtures at the tackle positions and Christiansen and Hohlfeidt are well fixed as guards. On Friday, however, in the absence of Hohlfeidt, Biecherstein was given a chance to work beside the center and took care of Hohlfeidt's work in a creditable manner.

The return of Hobe Bondi to school will make the backfield regulars look to their laurels. Captain Williams, of course, will carry the work of one half back throughout the season but Gibson will have to work hard to keep the lead for the other position.

Bondi has not entered a scrimmage as yet, having spent all his time to following the team to assimilate the plays, and followers of the game are anxiously awaiting his first scrimmage to see if he has lost any of his old time speed.

REIMANS PLAY ERRORLESS BALL TO BEAT NEWSIES

Smevog Allows News Company But Three Scattered Hits; Score, 3 to 0

With the Reimans playing an errorless game combined with the great pitching of Smevog who allowed but three scattered hits, one of which was a fluke infield single, the Reimans had little difficulty in trouncing the News Co. 3 to 0. Smevog, Geivirt and May featured with the only extra base hits of the game, each of them getting a triple. Gihler, on the mound for the News Co., allowed nine hits, but pitched good ball in the pinches, while Smevog had things going pretty much his own way.

First Ticket Will Admit to Madison Game November 18

Scrimmage Was Order Monday in Preparation for Tomah Saturday

Due to the fact that Manager Scott was unable to secure a football game between the La Crosse high school and Rochester on September 30, a home game with Madison high has been chalked up for November 18. The management requests the holders of season tickets to save the first ticket marked for September 30, as that ticket will admit to the Madison game. Season tickets are still on sale and may be obtained at the high school office.

Monday afternoon found Coach Keogan putting his men through a stiff signal practice in preparation for the opening tilt with Tomah high next Saturday. It is rumored that Dunham, star tackle for the Red and Black, will not participate in the coming game Saturday, having received injuries in scrimmaging last week.

SPORT BRIEFS

NEW YORK.—F. G. Quigley and Robert Hart were selected as the National league umpires for the Chicago city series.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Martin Burke of New Orleans won a decision over Fred Fulton after fifteen rounds.

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin displayed a brand of football during the scrimmage between the varsity and second football squads Monday afternoon that shows the Badgers to possess strength previously unnoticeable in its early season eleven.

led by Captain Williams the first team tore up the seconds for long gains through the line and around the ends, while "Sherry" Barr was executing beautiful passes to Irish and Tobell. The way these two ends pulled the ball out of the air and got off on long runs gave encouragement to the hundreds of fans who watched the practice.

A stiff looking line is also beginning to develop. It took the second team backs eight downs to go nine yards through the Badger forward wall.

Injuries are keeping Hohlfeidt, veteran guard, out of practice, with Harris, fullback, also on the sidelines for the present.

TO INVESTIGATE ALLEGED GAMBLING AT CHICAGO RACES

CHICAGO, Ill.—Grand Jury investigation with possible indictments of charges of gambling at the Hawthorne race track where running races were resumed last Saturday after a lapse of eighteen years, will be begun immediately. State's Attorney Crowe said. Six alleged bookmakers were arrested at the track Saturday. Racing continues for eleven days.

The state's attorney announced he would continue to keep fifteen investigators at the track throughout the meeting. All evidence of gambling, he said, would be taken to the grand jury.

A rain of "long green" donations have been pouring into the Wittenberg and Knebes pool rooms as a gift of appreciation to "Ducky" Smith as hero of the Nelson baseball club last Sunday. When it has all been counted it will total close to three figures.

It is planned to purchase "Ducky" an appropriate gift by the time he returns to the city this week-end. Among the generous donors was John C. Burns, who left the bill at Wittenberg's pool hall with the remark: "Here boys, buy something for 'Ducky'."

Bill Angell was out of it Sunday with a sore chest, acquired in before-the-game fielding practice when he slipped. Learn went to his place after Angell's ribs were so sore he could hardly throw and it hurt him to run. Angell went back to Genoa without visiting a doctor, and it was a speculation, according to Manager Bedessen, whether he would be able to play next Saturday. Angell thought, from the feel of it, he might have a cracked rib.

That home run of Ducky Smith's which cost the Montagues Sunday's game, came when Ducky caught a nice one right in the groove. McCauley had two on him and seemed to ease up instead of working him for the final out of the series. Montague players said after the game Syl shouldered the blame but insisted he would make it right next time the teams mix.

They took time out Sunday for "Orgie" Wolf when a grounder took a bad bounce and smacked him in the face. It was a hot one, and it was no error even when the runner made it safe. A swallow of water put "Orgie" back in the game, but he had a loose tooth as a souvenir.

McCauley had two on him and seemed to ease up instead of working him for the final out of the series. Montague players said after the game Syl shouldered the blame but insisted he would make it right next time the teams mix.

They took time out Sunday for "Orgie" Wolf when a grounder took a bad bounce and smacked him in the face. It was a hot one, and it was no error even when the runner made it safe. A swallow of water put "Orgie" back in the game, but he had a loose tooth as a souvenir.

Overheard on the north side
Sunday night: "The Montagues gave McCauley a gold watch, but the Nelsons gave him a 'Big Benn'."

Big Benn made a statement
Monday morning to the effect that Bobby Moore and Johnny Weigert are two of the most dangerous clouters on the Montague team.

Paying attention to a group of co-ed rooters in the Nelson section Sunday, reminded one of a football game. They were a peppy bunch of rooters, strong for their normal school representatives as well as the Nelson team.

First Ticket Will Admit to Madison Game November 18

Scrimmage Was Order Monday in Preparation for Tomah Saturday

Due to the fact that Manager Scott was unable to secure a football game between the La Crosse high school and Rochester on September 30, a home game with Madison high has been chalked up for November 18. The management requests the holders of season tickets to save the first ticket marked for September 30, as that ticket will admit to the Madison game. Season tickets are still on sale and may be obtained at the high school office.

Monday afternoon found Coach Keogan putting his men through a stiff signal practice in preparation for the opening tilt with Tomah high next Saturday. It is rumored that Dunham, star tackle for the Red and Black, will not participate in the coming game Saturday, having received injuries in scrimmaging last week.

SPORT BRIEFS

NEW YORK.—Commissioner Landis announced the following umpires for the world series: W. J. Klem and W. McCormick, National league; C. R. Owens and George W. Hildebrand, American league.

NEW YORK.—F. G. Quigley and Robert Hart were selected as the National league umpires for the Chicago city series.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—The rapid advance in oil shares, which ranged from one to four points featured the strong opening of Tuesday's market. Standard Oil of California was pushed up four points to a new high for the year and gains of 1 1/2 points were registered by Standard of New Jersey. Associated Oil and Mexican Petroleum. On the corn market Standard of New York opened up four points to 55 and then soared to a record high of 57 1/2, a net gain of 13 points. Ralls also were in good demand. New York, Chicago and St. Louis first preferred moving two points to a new high and Lackawanna duplicating its high of the year on a similar gain. Central Gas and Electric three points higher. Public Utilities, equipment and sugar shares also were bought at higher prices. Strength of American Express which moved up four points, was one of the features of the specialty list. General Asphalt and Pierce Oil preferred were up 1 1/2 and 1 1/2 points respectively. The bidding up of several specialties to new high records indicated a new resumption of pool operations which apparently was influenced by the better tone of foreign and domestic markets and the desire for easier money rates. Uncovering of a few weak spots, such as Crucible, Republic and Midvale Steels and United Steel Stores failed to halt the advance elsewhere. The extent of covering operations indicated that there had been a substantial increase in the interests during the past two weeks. Kresge and American Radiator were among the stocks to break through for high record prices. Kresge gained 3 1/2 points and the latter four. National Biscuit extended its gain to eight points and Lackawanna railroad touched 11 1/2, four points higher. Call money opened and renewed at 4 1/2 per cent. The buying movement was extended to new groups during the afternoon. Copper and iron issues held firm up sharply as were some of the low-priced rails, oils and rubbers. The close was strong, sales one million shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Uneasiness regarding a possible unfavorable outcome of peace conferences between the Turks and Greeks, and the fact that the Canadian wheat market Tuesday during the early dealings. The fact that the Canadian visible supply showed a decrease notwithstanding the fact that the Canadian had been looked for. The opening here, which varied from 1/2 to 1/4 higher with December $1.04 1/2 to $1.05 1/2, and May $1.03 1/2 to $1.04 1/2, was followed by slight additional gains. Subsequently the market eased off, influenced more or less by bearish estimates of the Canadian yield and of world import requirements but the effect failed to last. The close was firm, 1/2 to 1/4 higher, with December $1.06 1/2 to $1.07 1/2 and May $1.05 1/2 to $1.06 1/2. Corn displayed independent strength, offerings being small and demand good. After opening 1/2 to 1/4 higher, December 60 1/2 to 61 1/2 and the market scored a little further advance. Exporters are said to be after corn and bullish crop estimates continued to stimulate the general buying. The close was firm, 1/2 to 1/4 net higher with December 61 1/2 to 62 1/2. PROGRAM OF HIGHWAY LEGISLATION TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEET

Conference of State Officials, Road Engineers and Others Interested is Called

COUNTY BOARDS OF STATE TO BE REPRESENTED AT MEETING

Automobile Highway Legislation Biggest Work of the Year

MADISON, Wis. — Automobile highway legislation to be submitted at the January session will be thrashed out at a big conference of state officials, highway engineers, county board representatives, and others here Wednesday.

The big highway program is to be worked out in advance of the legislative session in order to hasten the work of the session.

Judged by the millions of dollars involved this will be most important piece of new financial legislation for the year. Gov. John J. Blaine, Secretary of State Elmer S. Hall and representatives from the Wisconsin League of Municipalities, Commission on Public Affairs, Tax Commission, Highway Commission, Wisconsin Good Roads Association, Wisconsin Automobile Association and the Milwaukee Automotive Dealers' Association have been invited to be present at this conference Wednesday to meet with the legislative committee of the county boards of the state. After the needs of the highway department for the coming two years have been presented the table will be cleared for a full and complete discussion of all forms of legislation for raising the required funds.

On Thursday the county board legislative session at which time it is expected that a full legislative program will be proposed. President E. W. Davis of the Wisconsin County Boards Association announced Tuesday that their legislative committee will include Fred Prentiss, secretary, Watertown; R. Loether, Eau Claire; William Dolan, Cashot; William MacCarthy and C. C. Jacobus, Milwaukee; A. E. Weiting, Fond du Lac county, and three other representatives from northern counties to be appointed during the day.

It is generally understood that three plans will be the center of discussion on Wednesday. These three plans are a valuation tax, a gasoline tax and a graduated license fee based on weight and horsepower combined with a valuation tax.

A. R. Hirst, chief engineer and chairman of the state highway commission, indicated Tuesday that the highway program that ought to be carried out during the years 1923-24 and 1924-25 contemplates the expenditure of nearly $30,000,000 annually. It is rumored that the consensus of opinion at the conference will be that in one way or another about one-third of this amount should be met by the automobile owners and two-thirds assessed against real property. At the present time highway officials declare that on this $30,000,000 basis the motor vehicle is furnishing less than $5,000,000.

The state's needs for financing the program beginning with 1924 are:

Required for maintenance of 10,000 mile state trunk highway system, 4,000,000
State aid for highways, 755,000

SHE'S HONORED BY HARDING

Miss Lucille Atcherson of Columbus, Ohio, is the first woman ever to be selected for an important diplomatic post. President Harding has nominated her to be secretary of an embassy or legation. It is likely she will go to Paris.

Special state aid bridges, 200,000
For roads to and in state parks, 50,000
For material surveys, 25,000
Maintenance of county trunk highways, 2,000,000
State aid for county highway organizations, 400,000

Total, $3,950,000

It is hoped that by means of the Wednesday hearing which will probably be held in the hearing room at the state capitol, that the needs of the highway commission will be approved and that some tentative plans for financing the program can be agreed upon.

The meeting of the county board representatives with the representatives of the state and prominent organizations is a clear-cut effort to arrive at an agreement that will place the highway program upon a stable basis. It is believed that by this method a highway plan can be worked out which will not subject the highway appropriation each year to political dickerings.

NO AUTO TAX ON GOPHER TOURISTS DECLARES HIRST

Law Imposes License Fee Only for Those Who Stay in State Three Months

MADISON, Wis. — Editorial comment calling for legislative action, and possibly retribution, against an alleged Minnesota law that calls for tourists in that state to pay an automobile license fee were declared to be without a basis by A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer here today.

"Apparently somebody was mistaken," said Mr. Hirst. "A letter from the chief engineer of the Minnesota Highway Department assures me that there is no such law in Minnesota. The state clearly permits tourists to operate without registration for a period of ten days. After that time they must be registered but it is without cost if the tourist is to stay for a period of less than three months."

The following is an extract of the letter written by John H. Mullen, chief engineer of the Minnesota Highway Department explaining their law and requirements.

"A non-resident of Minnesota may use highways for a period of three months without any license fee, but such non-resident should, within ten days of the time of coming into this state apply for registration in the usual manner and is then given a registration certificate without charge. This applies only to passenger autos for personal use of the owners."

THREE KILLED IN IRREGULARS' RAID ON FREE STATERS

BELFAST.—Two soldiers of a Free State detachment were killed Monday when the detachment was ambushed by irregulars on the road from Farranfome to Killarney. One irregular was killed.

An unsuccessful attempt by the irregulars to capture Killarney, near Killarney resulted in a battle lasting seven hours. Two republicans were known to have been killed. The coast guard station at Talloe was attacked by republicans today and a long battle followed. The attackers were finally beaten off.

Pa Explains
"Pa, what does 'sic transit' mean?" asked Clarence.
"Oh, I dunno. I suppose it refers to the condition of the street cars and interurbans since the motor cars have put such a crimp in them," growled his dad.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
